SHOSHONE ORE NOW AT SAMPLER

for the regular marketing of the company's product.
Controls will be in the hands of the assayers this morning and either this afternoon or to norrow the ore will be sold to the smelters. It is a long time since a shipment of ore reached this market in which so much public interest has been shown as in this one. There are several reasons why these two carloads of ore have aroused public notice and they are all substantial ones, reasons that go beyond the indi-ones, reasons that go beyond the individual interests of mining men.

To begin with it is the firing of the first gun in the campaign of bringing ores to this market from the southern camps of Nevada over the shortest and most feasible lines of transportation. It is in the nature of a demonstration that producers have, in the San Pedro, an ally that must and will make it possible for all of them to find a pro-fitable market for their ores and will go to show that nowhere in the west can the mine-owners of the southern country find more and better facilities for doing their business than right

To the business interests of this city it means fully as much. If the mine-owner is to find it advantageous to market his product here, he will also find it equally as favorable a point at which to make his purchases of supplies and machinery and establish headquarters. Thus it becomes apparent that the city as a whole must share in the prosperity of the transportation company and the mines which it serves.

While the public finds all these reasons for religions over the event tire.

sons for rejoicing over the event, the operators of this city and state whilave entered the Nevada fields and the Eullfrog district in particular, will find the keenest satisfaction in knowing that they have interests in a region that produces ore sufficiently high in grade o stand the long wagon hauls an

SMELTER FUMES PROBLEM.

Management of Plants Working Hard on Solution, Notwithstanding Suit.

The filing of the big suit against the different smelting companies operat-ing in this valley by the farmers living in the vicinity of the plants and their application for an injunction the granting of which would result in the destruction of the smelting industry here, is variously viewed by the smelter managers, but none of them are ready to believe that any great and are ready to believe that any such outcome will result from a trial of the case.

The different managers declined to be quoted at this stage of the proceedings, but all were willing to discuss the sub-

Wire Brings News That $123 Rock Has Just Been Struck.

A wire from Goidfield yesterday afternoon brought the cheering information to the officials of the company that ore assaying $123 per ton in gold had been struck in the shaft being sunk by the Utahna company on its property about sixteen or eighteen miles from Goidfield, southeast. The Utahna company was previously known as the Aurora. It was recently discovered, however, that a company of that name was already in existence, so it became necessary to change the name under which the Salt Lake crowd was operating.

Third State of the property of the property

The directors of the Star Consolidated met yesterday afternoon to discuss the proposition of changing the articles of incorporation so as to make the stock of the corporation assessable. The law on the subject was looked into and the conclusion was reached that the change on a 7 per cent dividend basis which similar expectations. The story of the Louisville lease to Atlantic Coast Line on a 7 per cent dividend basis which was the latest production of this character obtained so little credit today that those two stocks were amongst the principal sufferers by reason of the violent reaction from yesterday's jump. Rumors of mergers amongst the metal industrials which have lifted prices extensively were equally open to suspicion with consequent damage to the stocks concerned.

Another break in the wheat market served to renew anxiety regarding losses in that speculation, which would have to be made good in the stock market. The opening influence on the selling from foreign financial centers was strong owing to the unsettlement there over the international political outlook. Paris manifested decided uneasiness over the dispute with Germany regarding conditions in Mørocco. The report that the cable to the Asian mainland from the island nearest to the field of naval activity had been cut seemed to inspire the circulation of sensational rumors that the expected naval battle already had been fought with unexpected results. But it is doubtful whether any or all of these matters had as much influence upon the selling as a vague feeling of suspicion and a fear of some unfavorable development yet to be announced.
